Halloween Reading

David Hyde Costello, artist & children's book author, will perform two special Halloween readings of "Here They Come." Both performances are family-friendly, free, and open to the public. Costello's residence at CCLC this month is made possible by a grant to CCLC from RAAC's Claudia Mitchell Arts Fund. Costello's original work is on display at Gay Street Gallery until Oct 17.

Oct 13, 6pm, Little Washington Theatre, "The Forgotten Coast"

Virginia Working Landscapes (SCBI) and their partners at Nelson Byrd Woltz (NBW) Landscape Architects will be co-hosting a screening of "The Forgotten Coast" on Thursday, Oct 13 at 6pm (doors open at 5:30).

Three friends leave civilization and become immersed in a vast and unexplored wildlife corridor. The rugged 1,000 mile journey traverses Florida's forgotten coast, a wilderness that has potential to change the way we see the natural world.

There will be a brief welcome to open the event, and Joe Guthrie from NBW will give a short introduction about the screening and his role in the film. The film will last approximately one hour, followed by a Q&A led by Joe and VWL. DETAILS
